Save up to 50% on your quoting effort

Modern and scalable software

We have created a wonderful experience for both you and your customer. With your feedback, we continuously add great new features.
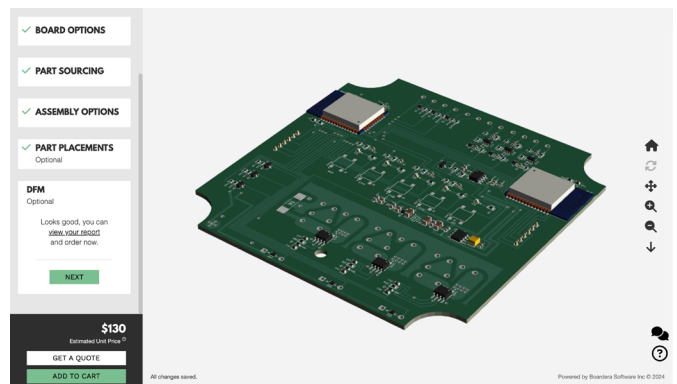

White Labeling – Your Branding

Once you register and configure your Boardera platform we generate a dedicated, branded online store that your customers can use right away.

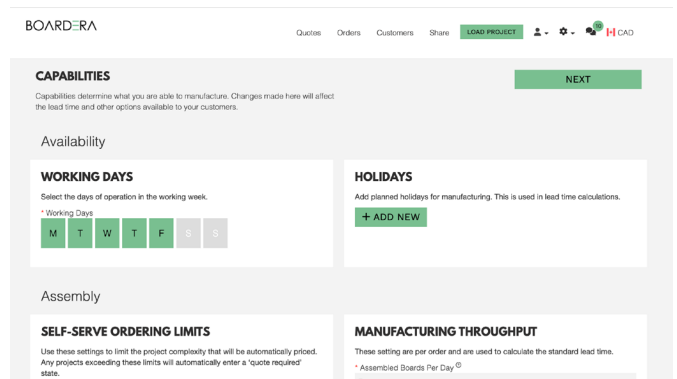

Your Customer's Experience

Leave their delightful experience to us. We have spent countless hours making the experience for your customers one that's enjoyable, saves them time, and decreases complexity.

Capabilities

We are considering the days you work, holidays you take, and the machinery you have to ensure you are receiving orders you can successfully manufacture.

Highly Automated Solution

Our software tools will automate most of your quoting and ordering process, reducing mistakes and time to respond to your customers.
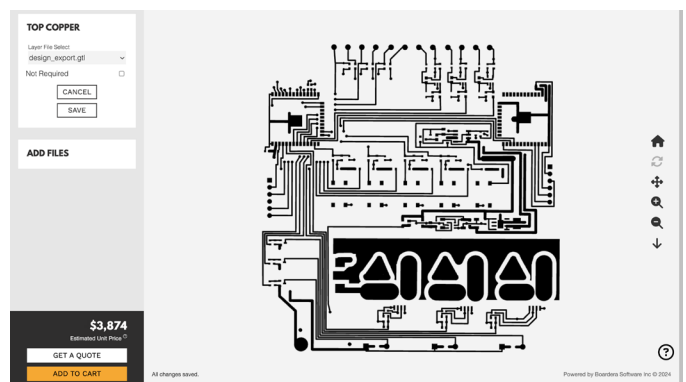

Pricing Controls

By analyzing many projects and opportunities, we have created a pricing model that is both considerate of the important details, and simple to set up and maintain.

Automated Pricing

Our software automatically analyzes design details and requirements from the customer's files and automatically applies your pricing rules and configurations.

Request for Quotes

The RFQ process is available as a way to handle ill-defined projects, high volumes, or highly complex projects. We will provide the most effective data package you have ever experienced in order to make quick pricing decisions.

More Orders

With our solution, your existing team can save up to 50% on the quoting effort, leaving them more time to work on new high value client projects.

Standardized Documentation

We automate the creation of standardized documentation which allows you easily process business-to-business transactions. You can continue to invoice as you do today to minimize impact to your current process.

Automated Communications

Eliminate wasted efforts, inconsistencies and confusion by allowing the important communications to be both automated and captured with the included messaging tool.

Orders

We will consolidate the design files and all of the user input into the cleanest manufacturing package in the industry. Where you would typically invest many hours of design review and sourcing, it will now be fully automated.
